Remembering sacrifice on July 4

THERE IS A TRADITION at our church on the Sunday prior to Memorial Day that has spanned many years. After the worship service is completed, the congregation walks to the adjacent cemetery, led by members carrying the cross and the United States flag. Then, a trumpet player at one end of the cemetery plays taps as the congregation stands silently in reverence. As the last note sounds, a second trumpet player at the opposite side of the cemetery plays taps again, as though the solemn tribute is echoing back from across the hillsides. Then a member of the congregation reads the words of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. Although brief, there are no more powerful words to define the sacrifice, strength, and purpose of a democracy. At the conclusion, children carry flowers and place them on each grave marked by the American flag.

Jerry Kackley,
General Manager/CEO

This ceremony is performed to honor and remember those who have gone before us as we welcome a day dedicated to just that purpose. We recognize the sacrifice, guidance, and love that others have given and that have been critical to our lives. We may not always realize it, but we are blessed to live in this great country — to experience the privilege of freedom. But this freedom brings with it a responsibility to protect and preserve it by respecting the rights of others while adhering to our own beliefs. This can sometimes seem like an impossible task, but it is an obligation that each of us owes. Remember that God and country must always walk hand-in-hand, or no democracy can stand — for we are “one nation, under God, with liberty and justice for all.”

As July 4th approaches, it would seem fitting here to thank all those who currently serve or have served to protect our liberty through their service in the military or law enforcement. With that in mind, I thought I would conclude by printing the lyrics that are meant to accompany the music of taps. God bless each of us, and God bless America! ☸

*Day is done, gone the sun
From the lakes, from the hills, from the sky
All is well, safely rest
God is nigh.*

*Fading light dims the sight
And a star gems the sky, gleaming bright
From afar, drawing near
Falls the night.*

*Thanks and praise for our days
'Neath the sun, 'neath the stars, 'neath the sky
As we go, this we know
God is nigh.*

*Have a wonderful day!
God Bless! Jerry*

Energy Efficiency
Tip of the Month

Use toaster ovens or convection ovens for small meals rather than your stove or oven — they use one-third to one-half of the energy a full-sized oven uses.
